Educational Credential Evaluators, Inc. (ECE) Evaluator Contributes to Indian Publication on Studying in America

New Delhi, India -- Study in America: The Definitive Guide for International Student, written by education consultant Renuka Raja Rao.

The publication provides information for Indian students wanting to pursue education in the United States.

Margaret Wenger, Senior Evaluator and Team Manager for Educational Credential Evaluators, Inc. (ECE), collaborated with Rao on the publication. ECE is a U.S. based non-profit credential evaluation organization that provides credential evaluation reports for people who have completed part or all of their education outside the U.S.

"This project was an important collaboration between international educators in India and the United States, including people at all stages of the process - from the first advisor giving a student information about studying in the US, to test-givers, credential evaluators, and university admissions and advising staff," Wenger said. "It will be a benefit to all stakeholders, especially the students."

The publication produced by Pearson Education, provides helpful information regarding the U.S. admissions and visa process, credential evaluation, and financial issues.

India's Minister of State for External Affairs Shashi Tharoor praised the publication, stating that education in the U.S. can bring an opportunity to expand the horizons and minds of students in India.

Wenger, who has been with ECE for more than 19 years, has authored ECE Presents: The Educational System of Tunisia. She has also presented at several international conferences regarding the various educational systems in the world.
