University Studies Abroad
Consortium (USAC)

USAC offers a wide variety of programs in 25 different countries with 40 primarily non-traditional locations ranging from three weeks to a year. Along with intensive language studies in Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Spanish, and other coursework on university campuses, students get involved with the local culture through homestays and conversation partners. Small class sizes create a sense of intimacy, and weekend field trips allow for adventures and cultural experiences beyond the classroom.

English Language Learners'
Institute (ELLI)
Angelo State University

The English Language Learners' Institute aims to deliver high quality English Language programs to prepare international students for study at Angelo State and other U.S. universities. Classes are small, learner-centered and active. Students gain confidence to use English in real-life situations, and learn the skills they need to operate effectively in academic contexts.

Students study for four hours, five days a week, with afternoon self-study. Reasonably priced residence hall accommodation is available.

American University Washington
College of Law

The Summer Legal English Institute is designed to introduce foreign practitioners and incoming LLM students to legal English concepts. Through daily lectures, written assignments, in-class exercises, contract negotiations, and a mock arbitration, participants whose native language is not English practice a wide array of legal English skills ranging from legal reading and writing strategies to oral presentations of substantive legal issues in American contract law. SLEI will meet from June 28 through July 15, 2010.

THE LANGUAGE FLAGSHIP
Creating Global Professionals

THE NEXT GENERATION OF GLOBAL PROFESSIONALS

ARABIC & PERSIAN

The University of Maryland's Arabic and Persian Language Flagship programs lead the nation in designing, supporting, and implementing a new paradigm for advanced language education. Through an innovative partnership among the federal government, education, and business, The Language Flagship programs graduate students who will take their place among the next generation of global professionals, commanding a superior level of fluency (3+ ILR) in Arabic and Persian (Farsi), languages critical to U.S. diplomacy, business competitiveness and security.
